Emergency Response Statement

The Okonite Company manufactures insulated electric wire and cable for use in commercial, nuclear, industrial and utility applications. Okonite manufactures its products in five factories, located exclusively in the United States. Products can also be obtained from our five regional Warehouse/Customer Service Centers.

Given the importance of Okonite products to our customers, Okonite has conducted extensive Risk Analysis reviews of our manufacturing and product distribution capabilities. As a result of this Analysis, Okonite has contingency plans in place to react to any expected or unexpected threats to its facilities, communications, infrastructure, machinery, materials, and personnel.
